Vienna International Center for Thoracic Oncology

"In recent years, minimally invasive surgery has increasingly established itself as the standard procedure for early cancer stages."

University Professor
Dr. Walter Klepetko

VICTO consists of a group of highly renowned surgeons, oncologists, and radiologists who aim to provide all the necessary services related to the treatment of thoracic malignancies at the cutting-edge of medical science.

We provide fast and direct access to the best diagnostic and therapeutic tools, doubled by frontline therapy at the highest level of quality for all types of thoracic tumors.

Center for Urology

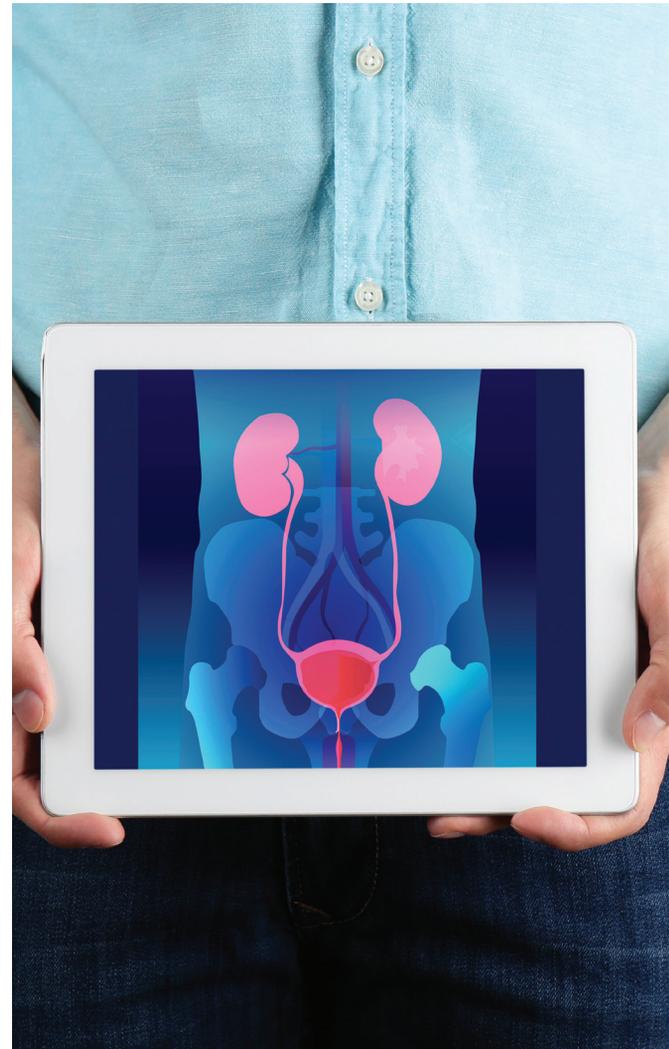

"We recommend that all men aged 45 and up undergo a regular screening at least once a year, while risk patients and prostate cancer patients should do it more frequently."

University Professor
Dr. Georg Schatzl

Every year, nearly 5,000 Austrian are diagnosed with prostate cancer. In fact, prostate cancer is the most common type of tumor affecting men in the industrialized countries. Thus, when it comes to men's health, prostate cancer is what comes first to our mind.

Offering all the available treatment options - from surgical removal of the entire prostate, to the increasingly more common active surveillance (depending on how aggressive the tumor is) - a representative number of first-class urologists work at the Wiener PrivatKlinik, treating not only prostate cancer, but also prostate enlargement, erectile dysfunction, or testosterone deficiency.

Center for Sports Medicine and Trauma Surgery

www.wpk.at
info@wpk.at

Since it is estimated that one in five accidents in Austria is a sport related accident, the Center for Sports Medicine and Trauma Surgery at Wiener PrivatKlinik offers specialized therapy and rehabilitation for accidental injuries of all kinds and severities.

Targeting both recreational and professional athletes, treatment is provided for a large area of situations from contusions and fractures, to complex injuries to tendons, ligaments and muscles. In doing so, we focus on minimally invasive surgery.

While trauma surgery concerns the recovery after an accident or permanent damage to the musculoskeletal system, sports medicine's main function is prevention. Thus, the associated health risks related to the excessive demands on recreational and competitive athletes could be avoided through periodic medical examinations and training support.

Center for Cardiovascular Medicine

www.wpk.at
info@wpk.at

"Due to miniaturization and the associated reduction of risk, the complication rate for coronary artery procedures is de facto negligible."

University Professor
PD Dr. Martin Schillinger

It's a fact that cardiovascular diseases are already responsible for almost every other death in the modern industrial societies. While some of the factors leading to this situation could be reduced or eliminated (e.g. smoking, unhealthy diet, lack of physical activity), the ageing process will unavoidably cause the remodeling of the cardiovascular system which usually leads to degenerative changes. One or two hundred years ago, people simply did not grow old enough to develop cardiovascular diseases, but nowadays and in the years to come we witness a steady increase in life expectancy.

Specialized in the diagnosis and therapy of cardiac and vascular diseases, Wiener PrivatKlinik's Center for Cardiovascular Medicine offers state-of-the-art methods and technology, as well as a fully equipped catheter laboratory. Since cardiovascular medicine not only deals with congenital and acquired heart diseases, but also with circulation and blood vessels in the heart's vicinity, we treat a large spectrum of cardiovascular affections, including but not limiting to high blood pressure (hypertension), strokes, arterial occlusive disease, and related affections.

"Vascular calcification is the most common disease worldwide. Atherosclerosis is still responsible for almost half of all deaths."

University Professor
Dr. Dr. h.c. Ihor Huk

Center for Orthopaedics

“One of my goals is to preserve and reconstruct the extremities of our patients.”

University Professor
Dr. Rainer Kotz

Losing mobility and living with musculoskeletal pains in later life is no longer an inevitable fate: the most recent joint prosthesis technology and the latest minimally invasive implant procedures have made joint operations and the insertion of prostheses a short and gentle routine procedure. Pioneering in endoprosthetics, we perform all types of operations with the help of leading specialists in diseases of the musculoskeletal system and supporting tissues. The focus on treating orthopedic problems bundles with a comprehensive range of rehabilitation therapies for reducing pain and restoring patients' mobility.

Bone Tumor Center

Bone and soft tissue tumors are rare diseases, often affecting children and young people. Poor prognosis and lack of professional treatment might lead to tragic situations. Fortunately, thanks to our leading specialists and the state-of-the-art diagnosis and care facilities, surgery and modern chemotherapy can usually save limb and life.

“Pain free mobility after orthopedic treatment is one of the key factors for a happy life”

Millesi Center for Peripheral Nerve Surgery, Plexus Brachialis and for Reconstructive Surgery

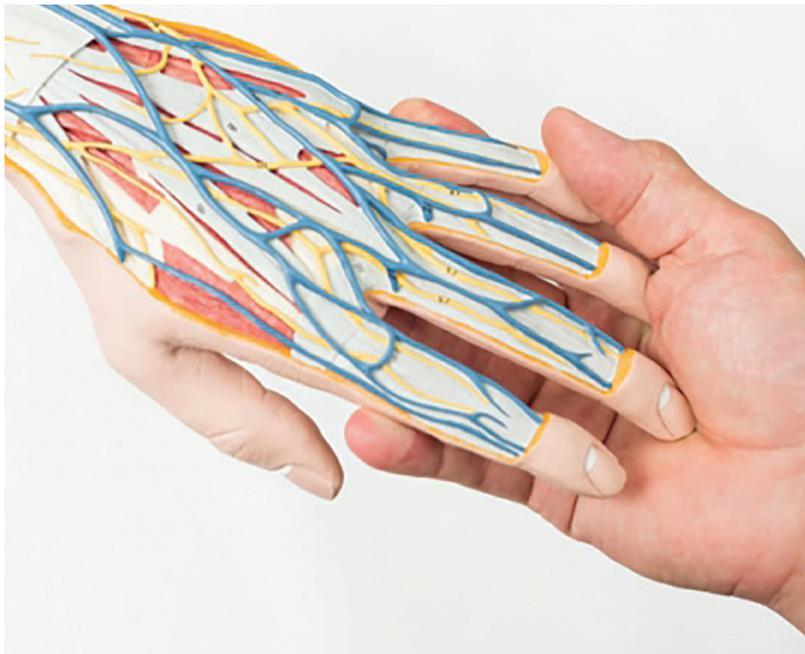

"It is not about academic achievement, but about what benefits the patient."

Head of the Millesi Center for Nerve Surgery, Hand Surgery and Reconstructive Surgery at the WPK

Prof. Dr. Robert Schmidhammer

Millesi Center at Wiener PrivatKlinik offers an innovative integrated treatment concept concerning nerve injuries, pain syndromes and nerve reconstructions, including nerve transplantation. An interdisciplinary team of specialists attends patients for diagnosis, surgery and neuro-rehabilitation, while constant research in this medical field allows us to offer treatment methods corresponding to the newest international standards in science.

Previous years have shown that best results in therapy are obtained by considering the brain, the central nervous system, the peripheral nerves and the muscular system as one functional unit. While in the past it was evaluated as a success when an injured person could flex the entire paralyzed elbow again, today, even in the most difficult cases, it is aimed for complex, target-oriented motions which can only be achieved by including the paralyzed part of the muscular system and the brain in the therapy.

Center for Surgery

"Minimal invasive surgery has become the standard of care for most procedures in general, including visceral surgery. However, exact knowledge of the patient's individual situation is mandatory for selecting the optimal surgical treatment plan."

University Professor
Dr. Harald Rosen

Wiener PrivatKlinik's dedicated surgical wing has 4 ultramodern operating theaters, endowed with advanced technology to provide the highest quality surgical and post-operative care. Our state-of-the-art equipment is completed by our medical expertise based on the interdisciplinary cooperation of leading specialists in a broad range of medical fields.

- General surgery
- Abdominal surgery
- Oncological surgery
- Gynecological surgery
- Urological surgery
- ENT surgery

Center for Gastroscopy and Hepatology

“Due to lifestyle, polyps in the large intestine occur up to 15 times more frequently in men.”

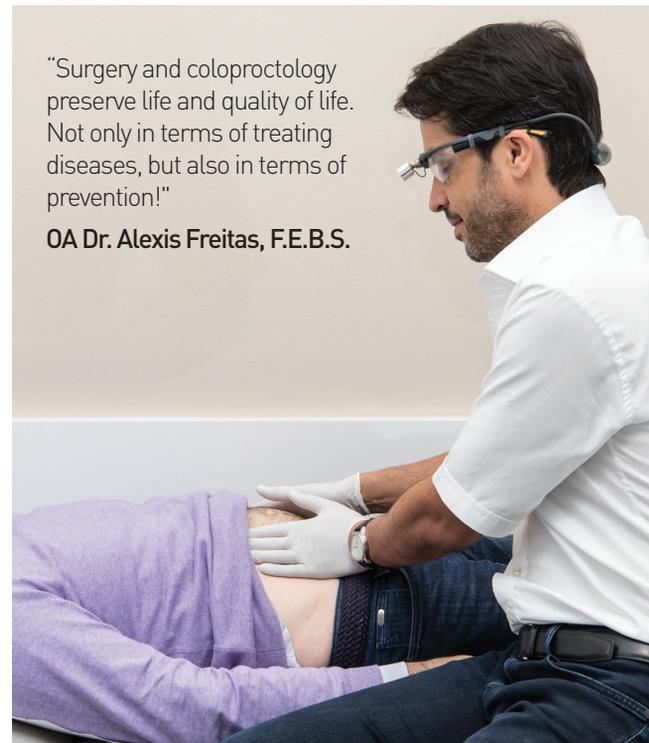

Prim. Dr. Camel Kopty

As the name suggests it, Wiener PrivatKlinik's Center for Gastroscopy and Hepatology means more than just the usual endoscopic procedures. We're specialized in the diagnosis and treatment of diseases in the areas of gastroenterology, hepatology and endocrinology. With special focus on the therapy of liver, pancreas and gall system affections, we also have extensive experience in the field of gastrointestinal disorders, being leading experts in inflammatory bowel disease. Our modern medical clinic is equipped with top-notch imaging equipment:

- Ultrasound
- Computer Tomography (CT)
- Magnetic Resonance Imaging (MRI)
- Position Emission Tomography/ Computer Tomography (PET/ CT) (can also be utilized for diagnostic- therapeutic purposes and puncture CT targeted)

“Surgery and coloproctology preserve life and quality of life. Not only in terms of treating diseases, but also in terms of prevention!”

OA Dr. Alexis Freitas, F.E.B.S.

Center for Interventional Radiology and Microtherapy

In recent years, therapy has rapidly evolved from open surgery to minimally invasive surgical procedures: microtherapy. Microtherapy involves only a small pinprick under local anesthesia and the use of instruments like needles, catheters and tubes guided by X-rays, computer tomography and ultrasound precisely to specific parts of the body, in order to avoid injuring vital anatomical structures like nerves, vessels or organs. The advantages of this treatment are various and range from the avoidance of a general anesthesia, minimal risk of infection and complication, no actual scarring and reduced post-operative pain, to a generally shorter hospital stay and a more rapid recovery.

Center for Microtherapy at the Wiener Privatklinik offers image-guided and minimally invasive therapy options for treating diseases of various organs or body parts, patients being attended by the best specialists in the fields of general medicine, surgery, dermatology, vascular surgery, gynecology, internal medicine, neurosurgery, neurology, plastic surgery, physical medicine, orthopedics and trauma surgery.

Check Up Center

www.wpk.at
info@wpk.at

When Austria first introduced the comprehensive preventive medical check-up back in 1974, the average life expectancy for women was around 75 years and 67 years for men. Today, women live seven years and men live eight years longer on average!

A thorough medical examination can save your life and increase your life expectancy. Besides leading a healthy lifestyle, regular check-ups are the best way to ensure early detection and correct treatment for serious diseases that may not have any profound markers or evident symptoms, thus increasing your chances of recovery.

We offer an array of comprehensive check-up packages tailored to your specific needs and living conditions, with a high level of competence and outstanding service. All preventive medical examinations are carried out by highly qualified medical specialists utilizing the latest technological equipment, and can be carried out on either an outpatient or on an inpatient basis.

Center for Radiology & Nuclear Medicine

The computer-aided high-tech medical equipment in the Radiology Center of Wiener PrivatKlinik is deployed for multifaceted diagnostic routines and special analyses. Our state-of-the-art magnetic resonance tomography (MRT) and multi-slice computer tomography machines offer the highest quality results, while being the most gentle and comfortable equipment available on the market today. Qualified specialists working together with the attending doctors ensure individual supervision of patients, without long waiting times. At Wiener PrivatKlinik's Radiology & Nuclear Medicine Center you have the advantage to find all common radiological examinations under one roof.

Center for Osteopathic Medicine, Physical Therapy

“To find health should be the object of the doctor. Anyone can find diseases.” A. T. Still

Vice President of the Austrian Medical Society for Osteopathy
Prim. Dr. Andreas Kainz

Regarding the conservative spinal treatment, physical therapy and rehabilitation, our center offers a wide range of competences and services, which is rather unique in Vienna. Escaping the pain, regaining the full mobility, restoring the perfect functionality of the body after illness and surgery are the basic elements for reaching again a high quality of life.

Being a modern therapy based on healing functional disorders of the body's entire anatomical structure by assessing the patient with a holistic approach, osteopathy targets rather the causes than the symptoms of specific conditions. Your attending physician will determine the best approach for your wellbeing and health and will put at your disposal a variety of the highest quality treatments.

Aeromedical Center

Aeromedical Center (AMC) at Wiener PrivatKlinik is the longest standing institution in Austria offering comprehensive aviation medical certificates, all aeromedical examinations being done at the same location (a nationwide unique feature).

According to EASA Part-FCL, the Austrian Federal Ministry for Transport, Innovation and Technology authorized the Wiener PrivatKlinik Aeromedical Center to perform all initial and extended examinations for Medical Class I, Class II, Class III and Cabin Crew.

As all Airline Transport (ATPL) or Commercial Pilot License (CPL) holders have to undergo initial examinations at an aeromedical center, we ensure the examinations can be all completed in the shortest time possible (usually one morning).

Aeromedical Center at Wiener PrivatKlinik is operated in cooperation with the Austrian Aeroclub, so pilots who are members of the Aeroclub are entitled to multiple benefits.
